Childs Will Play For Homecoming Dance

Rally To Start Activities; Prizes Go To Float Winners

Reggie Childs and his band have been contracted to furnish music for homecoming dances Friday October 25, and Saturday October 26. Childs' "rolling styles" were recently heard in the Commodore, Taft, and Roosevelt Hotels in New York City, and he has made several Decca recordings. Prior to the William and Mary engagement, the twelve-piece band and girl vocalist will entertain for the homecoming dances at the University of Tennessee.

The William and Mary homecoming dances will be held in Blow Gym both nights, and will last from 9:00 p. m. to 2:00 a. m. on Friday, and 8:00 p. m. to 12:00 p. m. on Saturday. This marks the first year in which a name band of any grade has been booked for the homecoming dance. Also for the first time in several years, the President's aides have been given the task of putting on the two dances, and work on elaborate decorations will begin soon.

Oldest Alumnus Attends

Homecoming activities will begin with the pep rally and bonfire Thursday night. His Excellency, William M. Tuck, Governor of Virginia, and John Peyton Little, Jr., the oldest living alumnus of the College, will be the two guests of honor who, together with President John E. Pomfret, will ride in a restoration carriage at the head of the Homecoming parade Saturday. John P. Little, who was 92 years of age last August, is making a special trip with his wife from Clearwater, Florida to attend the Homecoming festivities.

On the reviewing stand, besides the five judges, will be the College officials, the Rector and members of the Board of Visitors of the College, the Board of Directors of the Society of Alumni, former Governor and Mrs. Colgate W. Darden, Jr., the Lord Mayor of Williamsburg and other city officials, Williamsburg Restoration officials, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Parade Features Floats

At the recent parade organization meeting all social sororities and fraternities, as well as honorary fraternities and clubs agreed to submit floats. The three girls' dormitories will combine their efforts to present a float, and Recommendation that a new mascot be obtained by the College to replace Wampo, the pony, was made.

Tech Ranked As Tough Foe

With one Southern Conference victory already to their credit, William and Mary's Indians take on one of their toughest league foes Saturday when they play host to the vaunted eleven of V.P.I., the game being scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Tech will undoubtedly prove to be the strongest team that the Tribe has faced at home since the contest with North Carolina Preflight in 1942. They proved this in their opener with North Carolina when the favored Tarheels were fought to a 14-14 deadlock. Then last week Tech tied powerful Virginia.

Coach Jimmy Kitts, who is back in Blacksburg again after several years of coaching at Rice Institute, has one of the best teams in V.P.I. history but also has a terrific schedule which includes eight conference opponents.

Kitts Uses Gobbler Line

The Gobbler line is expected to be probably the main factor in Kitts' plans. There are numerous guards and tackles with plenty of experience and many of them pass the 200 mark in weight with ease. The center position is not quite so well manned but at least three veterans of previous seasons will be around. Several ends are available who played last year.

Tech's star lineman is big John (The Greek) Maskas, who anchors the forward wall at his left tackle spot. He was All-State at V.P.I. in 1942 and took All-Southern honors at Carolina in '43. Sigo Mohr, Gobbler publicity man, has hopes of raising him to All-America stature. The Greek weighs 220 and is 6' 2" in height. His running mate at the other tackle is Frank Ballard, an experienced letterman, who tips the scales at 212.

So keen is the competition that Ross Orr, who was a standout at the position last year, is only third-string. He is slated to be the extra-point specialist. Freshman Jack Ittner, of John Marshall High, Richmond, and Gus Menegulas, 1942 letterman, are on the second team.

Jack Cooke, a freshman, and Bill Barbour, who saw service in '42, seem to have the inside track

For over two decades, Chapel services have been a weekly ritual at William and Mary.

The type and number of weekly services have varied during this period of time, but never have they been discontinued, and never have they been unattended.

Before the restoration of the Wren building, compulsory services were held five mornings a week in the then antiquated and barren Chapel. Entrance to the room could be obtained from inside the building only and the benches that lined the walls were of the type now set on the lawn in front of the Wren building. When Williamsburg, Inc., began restoration of the Chapel, services were held in Phi Beta Kappa hall. They were still compulsory. In 1931, the weekly evening services in the Chapel, as we know them today, began.

Chapel is no longer compulsory. A student or faculty member attends the half hour service because he wants to, not because he has to. These few minutes of silent meditation, prayer, and song, afford busy members of the college community time for thought. Able speakers offering food for this thought are members of the administration and guest speakers from out of town.

The hour for Chapel has been changed from 7:00 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. This will make it convenient to go to the services upon returning from dinner.

It's informal. There are no written invitations to Chapel; you are as welcome as the next person. Why not go Wednesday night? It's a half an hour well spent, and once you go, you'll want to go back again.

J. E. S.

When tryouts were held for The FLAT HAT, the Colonial Echo, and the Theatre last week, only a handful of men turned out for each. This was contrary to all expectations, for it had been thought that now that the men were back they would lift the student body immediately from the doldrums into which it had fallen with the scarcity of male leadership, by showing an interest in all the phases of William and Mary.

why aren't the vets out for activities?

There are a lot of different elements involved in college life. From the angle of a desire for sheer, unadulterated learning, it looks like nothing but books and papers. And, of course, books and papers are the firm basis of college, the terra firma, the reason for our being here.

Then there is the social side—the dances, the dates, the spectator-participation in big football games, fraternities and sororities. Seldom neglected, it should not be. It is the fretwork, the frosting, the part of college that the alumni hark back to when they recall the high points of the most precious four years of their life.

But in between the foundation and the decoration lies a third element that comprises a little of both. The broad field called "activities," if properly pursued, can have as much educative value as any course and can be as much fun as almost any social gathering.

All three of these components must be considered in building a college career that takes everything that is offered out of college, and gives everything possible. Neglect of any one makes for a lopsided system. It means that the student is gypping himself.

The new and returning men students, whose advent on the campus this fall turned the student body upside down, appear to have forgotten the third element almost altogether. While they study and they date, they just don't care about entering into the student body's contribution toward keeping the wheels of the college rolling.

It is understandable that the veterans may feel a need to "buckle down to the books," or that they may feel they "deserve a good time"; but they are overlooking something that could mean a great deal to them.

Letters to the editor are always welcome, whether the complaints or praises embodied in them are warranted or not. With these letters The FLAT HAT can better serve the students by bringing their voices to the ears of the "powers that be."

All letters must be signed, although signatures will be withheld upon request.

letter asks interest in

debating council

The increase of student participation in campus activities is bound to be realized this year, not only in the lecture series, theatre, etc., but in the various interest groups. In behalf of the latter, I enter my plea, but particularly for the Intercollegiate Debate Council. We are not a closed corporation as so many people may think. The council is open to all students with an honest and sincere desire to improve their public speaking ability, or those desiring to do research for the forensic activities.

The plan to take two trips this year, as has long been the custom of the council, provides opportunities to visit other college campuses and meet many interesting people.

The council receives its funds from student activity fees. It is your organization and we want and need your support and assistance. Next Wednesday and Thursday, tryouts will be held. We hope to see many of you there.

Sincerely,

Betty Jane Taylor, President
Intercollegiate Debate Council

one more tradition we should revive

To the editor:

In the pre-war college days, when the William and Mary campus gridders strutted victoriously over the line, it was a cause for much jubilation among the student body. Student support and spirit was the very essence that composed campus activities.

It was part of the practiced tradition that during football season, when the Indians won a game—at home or away—that the Wren Bell was tolled, once for every point that the team made. (And sometimes, it was rung a few extra times.)

With the trend so definitely aimed at making William and Mary bigger and better than ever before, I suggest that the ringing of the college bell after a successful football game be reinstated. Perhaps, the cheerleaders could see to this.

Sincerely,

An interested reader.

letter demands

answer the phone

To the Editor:

To anyone who has spent hours on the phone in a futile attempt to contact someone in the men's dorms, this plea will seem justified.

Can't the men's dorms have a call-boy system? The sound of a phone ringing in Brown, Monroe, etc. must strike terror into the hearts of the inhabitants. The men students avoid a ringing phone like the plague. Finally, if someone does answer, he whispers feebly to the nearest man, "Have you ever heard of this guy?" "Naw," is the reply. "He doesn't live here," they tell the irate person at the end of the wire.

If, by some miraculous chance, you manage to find someone who will actually look for the person you're calling, the chances are that he isn't in. This involves leaving a message. I've never yet heard of anyone getting a message left by a caller.

This hopeless situation needs to be corrected somehow. A callboy system seems to be a logical answer.

Sincerely,

An irate student

Wasn't that a pretty sight

Spike Jones may have been right when he exploded cocktails for two in some secluded rendezvous . . . and personally it isn't such a bad idea. Shaking cocktails is good exercise. However, beer and Champ ale seem to be the favorites among the students on the campus. Maybe this is caused by the rationing of the "hard stuff" or perhaps, it is preferred because it is an easy tap on the pocketbook.

But what is in a beaker of beer? A good beer . . . like Gaul . . . is divided into three parts: one third good cheer, one third good sense, and one third moderation. Brewed properly, this provides joyous accompaniment to frolic, festivity, frivolity, and foot racing.

The Connoisseur

The real connoisseur knows no real preference as to brands . . . in Williamsburg, he is lucky to get any good beer at all. But he looks with scorn at the neophytes who demand Middlebrau, Blotz, or Slotz. He is, upon deposit of twenty or twenty-five cents, presented with a golden container of foamy liquid. He watches infinitesimal bubbles rise in his golden nectar, and perhaps adds a little salt to the white crest, and very slowly takes the first sip. Here is the true lover of beer.

On the other hand, there are many other types of beer drinkers. Ranking high on the list of undesirable is the inebriate who enters the pub or tavern loudly, raucously orders his beer, and to the unrestrained tune of "Chug-a-lug", drains glass after glass without thoughts of flavor, label, friends, or home. He is disgusting in his unwarranted manner of approaching a mug of "just the kiss of the hops." In short he is a cad.

Sad Sack

A second type of drinker is the melancholy one who, weeping and wailing bitterly, proceeds to relate his sad tale of woe. His girl friend doesn't understand him, his physics professor just gave him an F, and his check hasn't come through for three months. After absorbing his quota, he is inclined to moroseness, and women and little children flee in anguish. Or perhaps, the fatal glass has brought forth the jester in him and he spends the evening relating humorous anecdotes that even Joe Miller wouldn't claim. Self-hypnotized in the belief that he is funny, he laughs hilariously at himself.

Counter Attack

Another acquaintance is the Casanova type who ecstatically throws his alcoholic affection at any size or shape of female. They are all homogeneous to him. After seating himself at an advantageous table, he looks beyond his mug of brew and sweeps the room with his highball eyeballs in search of his quarry. Finally he finds her sitting peacefully with her date, but this doesn't bother our hero. With romance in his glance, he weaves his way toward her table and with hastily planned strategy, he seats himself and from then on it is a case of watch your hat, coat, and girl friend . . . the management is not responsible. Unfortunately, he has a feminine counterpart. The lover type should never, never imbibe.

Then again, there is the surly one who is willing to defy anyone or anything and will raise his beer drenched fists at the slightest provocation. He is even offended by the thin defense of a pane of glass and emitting a thunderous yell proceeds to destroy such an antagonist and then staggers merrily on his way.

There are other types of drinkers, but as this is not intended to be a thesis on the subject, we will leave them undescribed. This small weak voice in a world of bottled amber is finished except for one last statement . . . SOME PEOPLE SHOULD NOT DRINK.

why have a points system

Last fall a plan was started by certain members of the Interclub Council to restrict excessive individual participation in campus activities. This committee devised a points system after several months of research on this campus and others, computation, and discussion. In May after the Student Assembly passed the system, the General Cooperative Committee approved it as an amendment to the Student Assembly By-Laws (Article VII, section 5).

Under the points system the activities on campus are listed in eight groups. Each group is assigned a certain number of points and the number of offices which may be held in it by one person. As an example: each office in the first group is rated ten points and an individual may hold only one of the listed offices. The total number of points one person may carry for one year is 17. Freshmen are exempt.

The Set-Up . . .

Individual tabulations will be made every fall by the Interclub council and those with over 17 points and/or holding over the specified number of offices in a group must resign activities of their own choice until they have the correct amount and distribution of points. Included in the amendment are rules by which the council will enforce the system. There is also a rule for the order of elections: WSCGA in March; Men's Honor council, Student Assembly, and class offices in April; honoraries, interest groups, and religious organizations in May. This order should aid the student in keeping his points under the limit.

Perhaps some people are wondering why any outsider should worry about excessive participation in activities. After all, if a person takes on too much and ruins his health and academic standard, that's his own fault. If he is in college he should know how to budget his time. Members of the points system committee agreed when the statement was made, but they argued that from past information they knew too many people did not know when to quit and it is very difficult to say "no" when under pressure.

Just One Person . . .

Then too, it does not affect just the one person. Each club the student is a member or officer of suffers because he cannot give his best to it. Say the student is president of three organizations and there are 20 people in each; then 60 people do not get the full benefit of their activities because their leader is inefficient. Why should 60 suffer because of one? This case actually occurred and so have others similar to it. Also, they asked if it was fair to have unequal distribution of the offices? Just because a person has done a few jobs well does not mean that he is the only one who can do anything. They felt that there were more than a handful of people who could carry on the activities of the campus.

Bot-E-Talk

Old Lord Botty, Williamsburg's counterpart of the Sphinx, ejaculates that he has heard much this past week.

Why, he reports that—Teddy Peck, Gregory's brother by relation and rumor, is saving pennies from picking apples so he can fly down to see Grace Kern during homecoming.

And Charlotte Fletcher jumped on a nearby broom and flew to North Carolina to see her fiancée. Bewitching, huh?

Along with all the ants at one of the recent picnics were Henry Shook and Gene Griffin. Li'l Henry was doing some research. Not in biology.

Teddy Baker played bar maid last week end. Barmaid—you know... the girl who dates the guys with the bars on their shoulders.

Rumors are flying, says the song. Bren and Sara are flying high again, sez Botty.

Names and faces seen in various places—Syl Legerhorn with Tom Resterick... MimiWhite, the apple of Al Appell's optics... Sammy Banks banking on Maybe Watson for dates... Penny Allenbaugh playing queen to Eddy King... and Sam Helfrich roaming about with Mary Lou Sibley.

Botty spotted Willie Leonhart with a willowy male as of late... As well as Lee Aston and Martha Lamborn still dueling it... Norman Martin is collecting plumbing tools. Must be planning on a cleanup with his latest... Jean McCreight took another stone back to Stoney Creek. Clark has presented Jean with a goodly sized rock—and engagement ring attached.

Furthermore—Cy Nelms and Bert Hill were looking for something while tagging it recently.

But what odd places they picked to look... A Hardy pair—Harry and Mary Berger, that is... Jane Oblender and Pete Quynn, Eegie Grant and Buddy Galbreath, and Joe Rego and El Pendleton are other twosomes of note.

Not to mention—Fee Dee Reynolds, that ever so colorful character, taking Nancy Black to the picnic and Bonnie Green to the dance... Happy as the proverbial Larkin is one named Pat who is chirping cadenzas to Fran Fleming... Tooker Ewart is alleged to have entertained her date by figuring statistics. Botty supposes that this is one way to get a guy's number, but there should be a more profitable means to this end... Harry Stinson, the idol of the freshman class, not idle with Li'l Audrey... Bob Marion is visiting Mary Minton Cregar.

And Botty knows—that Bill Knowles and Nancy Hynson paired up... Lucy Spigel and Fred Herman doing the conventional sort of thing at the same places... Virginia Northcott still armed with ropes, traps, and other snare-like devices to catch a man... Tut Bartzon lining up dates for the homecoming dances. What a racket those tennis players have, indeed...

And then there is the one about the Scotchman who was bashed in the head because he thought the little sign on the door said, "Laddies."

Marie McDonald doesn't have anything on Ye Venerable Statchoo. Don't they call both of them—

Botty.

Clark To Review Book During Balfour Meeting

G. G. Clark, associate professor of English, will address members of the Balfour Hillel Club at the first meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 8:00 p. m. in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa hall. Mr. Clark will review the book, David the King. Leonard Sands, social chairman of the group, is in charge of the program for the evening.

Regular Friday services which will be held in Wren chapel will begin October 11 at 7:00.

Minor Holds Talks On Williamsburg

"Excavation of Williamsburg" forms the basis of weekly talks by Thomas W. Minor, Jr., Colonial Williamsburg museum assistant. Held Tuesday evenings in the game room of the Williamsburg Lodge, the talks are illustrated with 50 slides in natural color.

In these talks, sponsored by Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., Mr. Minor discusses the methods of locating and excavating sites of colonial buildings, how artifacts are found in the ground, methods of treating and preserving them and the use of the materials recovered. Archaeological discoveries have been responsible for furnishing a large part of the information needed in accurately restoring the city as it was two centuries ago, according to officials of colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

Excavation Material Treated

The talk points out that each foundation excavated yields from 500 pounds to one ton of colonial materials. The material is carefully brushed, washed, and treated with a preservative and classified. There are 18 different classifications for ceramics, 12 for iron relics, three for brick, marble and stone, and 10 for miscellaneous articles.

Mr. Minor, a graduate of the College of William and Mary, has been with Colonial Williamsburg since 1938. In 1940 he was placed in charge of the museum and archaeological laboratory.

Hour Of Chapel Changed To 6:30

Guest speaker at the Chapel service tomorrow night at 6:30 p. m., a new hour for the service, will be Harold Bosley, minister of Mount Vernon Place Methodist church, Baltimore, Md. Mr. Bosley spoke at a similar meeting at William and Mary two years ago.

Following the Chapel service, members of the Student Religious Union and ministers from town will have supper followed by a discussion with Mr. Bosley.

This is one in a series of programs obtaining ministers of all faiths from surrounding areas who will be guest speakers at the Chapel services. The hour of Chapel has been changed from 7:00 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. on Wednesday nights.

Counseling Service Offers Students Vocational Aid

By TERRIE HOWE

Every student can profit by concrete information concerning his special aptitudes and fundamental interests. Vocational guidance and educational aid are two vital functions of the College counseling service.

As freshman, all students take a series of tests. These are designed to provide background for counseling conferences later on. The results of the tests are of no value unless they are followed up.

As a result of faculty action, the Counseling Service was established in 1941, and Royal B. Embree, Jr., joined the college staff to direct the work. During the war years, while Mr. Embree was in the Navy, it was impossible to carry on the extensive program which had been begun in 1941. Now, however, the service is ready to swing into action again.

Faculty organized and developed, the Counseling program makes use of the voluntary services of 25 or 30 trained faculty members. These professors handle early contacts, using the Counseling Office for reference when this is desirable. The system of student advisors and scheduling for courses is entirely separate from the counseling program. Only specially trained faculty participate. The Committee on Counseling is headed by Dr. Charles T. Harrison.

Any student wishing to secure a faculty counselor may go to Washington 213 and request assignment, or he may go directly to the professor. All association is on a voluntary basis and up to the student. This is a service to aid in the fulfillment of personnel objectives by specialized individual advice and instruction.

Return Of Mascot May Be Effected

Whitey Albertson Offers Trixie, Prize Pinto Pony

Students have been clamoring for the return of the old post-war spirit to William and Mary. Some of the veterans remember the days when W. and M. had Wampo, the pony mascot, for football games and parades. Wampo has become almost a legend here, and everyone remembers the stories they heard about the University of Richmond boys stealing Wampo before the traditional W. and M.—Richmond Thanksgiving Day game.

In answer to many requests, Whitey Albertson has offered his prize-winning pinto, Trixie, as mascot for the remainder of the home games and possibly for the Richmond game.

POTENTIAL MASCOT

Trixie is a well known performer in Peninsula horse loving circles. An excellent jumper and very able show pony, he has collected many trophies, cash prizes, and ribbons in horse shows at Hampton, The Briar Patch, Warrenton, Gloucester, Woodland Farms, and other sectional shows.

"The problem at the moment," Whitey says, "is that there must be a place to keep Trixie for the football season, and a trailer to transport him from Newport News to Williamsburg. If these obstacles should be overcome in the next few days, the students will have their mascot for the V. P. I. game this weekend."

Placement Bureau Registers February Grads This Week

32 Oxford Scholarships Offered To American Men

According to the will of Cecil John Rhodes, 32 scholarships for the University of Oxford are being offered for the 1947-1948 school year. Because this plan was discontinued during the war, the trustees have authorized an additional 16 scholarships.

Each of the 48 scholarships is made for two years, with a possible third year when an outstanding record or the line of study at the University of Oxford makes this advisable. Each award is valued at 400 pounds a year. Both regular and War Service appointments are being made, and a student attending school in the United States under the GI Bill of Rights will continue to collect his benefits. There is no restriction placed on the choice of study.

To be eligible for a regular appointment, a candidate must be a male, unmarried citizen of the United States, and be between the ages of 19 and 25 on October 1, 1947. He must have completed at least his sophomore year at the time of application. Candidacy for a War Service scholarship requires that the applicant be a male citizen of the United States between the ages of 19 and 32, and he must have completed at least one year of college at the time when he files his application.

Selection is based on the following: literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood, truth, courage, sincerity, kindness, and loyalty; exhibition of moral force of character and instinct leading to interest in schoolmates, and physical vigor. A definite quality of distinction in intellect, character, or personality, must be present in the Rhodes scholar.

Applications must be in the hands of the Secretary of State Committee Scholars by November 2, 1946. Scholars elected will enter the University of Oxford in October, 1947. Further information may be obtained from W. G. Guy, institutional representative for the College of William and Mary, whose office is in Rogers 202.

Elizabeth Osborne Comes To W-M For Dorothy Gray

Miss Elizabeth Osborne will represent Dorothy Gray Cosmetics in a program sponsored by WSCGA and Mortar Board on Monday, Oct. 21, and Thursday, Oct. 22. There will be a general meeting on Monday evening, in Phi Beta Kappa auditorium for all women students, who are interested, followed by a reception for Miss Osborne in the Dodge room. Invitations for the reception will be issued by Mortar Board to women faculty and administration members, faculty wives, and house-mothers.

On Tuesday, Miss Osborne will hold scheduled individual and small group conferences. Topics of Miss Osborne's talks will include personality, dress and grooming, poise, and make-up.

Miss Osborne has represented Dorothy Gray at Skidmore, Beloit, Stephens, and many large universities. This is the first year that she has come to William and Mary.

Committee chairmen for the reception on Monday evening are as follows: Fran Moore and Marilyn Woodberry, refreshments; Jane Segnitz and Nancy Easley, invitations; and Nonnie Fehse and Pat Jones, decorations.

Redmen Overpower Citadel Eleven, 51-12

Tribe Scores Three Times In First Quarter Onslaught

Except for two quick touchdowns which came in the last half, William and Mary's Indians had things pretty much their own way in defeating the Citadel Bulldogs, 51-12, at Charleston, S. C., in the first Southern Conference tilt for both colleges.

In the first seconds of the game, fleet Tommy Korczowski ripped off a 65-yard run, starting on his own 33 and finally being stopped on the Citadel 2-yard stripe. Fullback Jack Cloud was over for a tally on the next play, and Stan Magdziak added an extra point, to give the Indians a 7-0 lead in less than a minute.

Harry Caughron kicked off for William and Mary, the ball finally landing on the Citadel 21. The Bulldogs, a young but fighting team, pushed the ball up to their 49, where they faked a punt, which misfired, losing eight yards for Citadel. On the next play, a genuine punt was attempted, but William and Mary's center, Tommy Thompson, blocked the kick and then scooped up the ball and jogged some 35 yards for the second touchdown. Magdziak's kick went through the uprights for the extra point.

Minutes later, the Tri-Color scored again. Jackie Freeman tried to shoot a pass to end Bob Steckroth, but Ray Harley, Citadel fullback, gobbled up the ball, and the Bulldogs took momentary possession of the ball on their own 15. On the next play, Freeman retaliated by snaring a Citadel pass, on the 26. After three running plays, which brought the ball up to the Citadel 12, blocking back Tom Mikula whizzed through right tackle for the third score. Magdziak's placement again being good, and William and Mary held a commanding 21-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Intramural Schedule Presented At Meeting

At the first intramural meeting, held in Barrett Hall on October 3 at 6:00, the various dormitory and sorority representatives were given a reading and explanation of the new rule concerning the standing of varsity letter winners in intramural athletics. The working of the point system and the earning of an intramural monogram were also discussed.

Tennis, swimming and hockey are first in line for girls' intramural activities. All girls who plan to enter the swimming meet on October 22 must get three practices, one of which must be in Blow pool.

Anyone may swim in Jefferson pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 9:00 to 9:45. The pool may be used any other time when it is free if a member of the Water Safety Corps is on duty.

Intramurals

There are still several dormitories and fraternities who have not yet filed eligibility lists of their members who plan to participate in any of the 1946-47 intramural activities.

The organizations who intend to enter the touch football tourney this fall must file their lists before October 10. An organization failing to do so will be at a disadvantage in the amassing of points toward the Intramural High Point Trophy.

At 7 o'clock on October 10, an important meeting of all intramural managers will be held in the Trophy Room of Blow Gymnasium. Any manager unable to attend this meeting is requested to contact Mr. Smith, the intramural director, in the gym between 3 and 5 of the same day.

Any man desiring to help out with the year's program is asked to contact Mr. Smith as soon as possible. Watch the bulletin board for drawings in the tennis tourney and the schedule for the touch football teams.

on the guard positions. However, Nelson Fuller, letterman, and Bob Taylor, who played freshman ball, are to be reckoned with.

Captain Elmer Wilson is stationed at right end but the race for the other terminal spot is wide open. John Kroehling, '42 freshman, has turned in good performances, as have Jim Wegman and R. E. Johnson, a Tennessee transfer.

Centers include Joe Hoffman, of Richmond, J. E. Gerngross, transfer from New Hampshire, and Pat Denardo, who was on the squad last year.

Injuries Cripple V. P. I. Team

Kitts uses the single wing as his basic formation but at times employs a modified "T" which makes for more deception. The backs are many but injuries have taken their toll. Bobby Smith, veteran fullback and the team's best kicker, has a broken hand and Dick DeShazo, who transferred from V.M.I., was hurt in early practice sessions and may not be able to go Saturday.

One big blow to Kitts' plans was the loss of Dick McCoy because of the recurrence of a childhood disease. McCoy, who made All-State and All-Southern at his high school in Charleston, W. Va., was slated to be first-string blocking back.

The starting quartet is likely to be Freshman Harry Walton at tailback; Ray Beasley, a freshman in '42, at fullback; Ted Johnson, letterman, at blocking back; and Ralph Beard, a regular last season, in the wingback slot. Walton played at Maryland before entering the service and has been praised highly by Kitts. Beard, a left-handed passer, might work havoc with the Tribe's weak aerial defense. Many other letterman are available when needed.

Indian Line Strengthened

With Lou Hoitsma having been shifted to end and Tommy Thompson back in his old spot at center, the Indian line should be even stronger than before. Hoitsma was moved because of the high casualty rate among the flankmen. Marvin Graham has been bothered by a knee injury and Pat Hagerty was sidelined last week. Captain Denver Mills may not be able to start before November.

Bill Saffo's injury proved more serious than had been expected and he will be out for an indefinite period, with Jim McDowell getting the starting nod in his place.

Apprentices Down Papooses By 25-6

Capitalizing on several breaks, the Newport News Apprentice grid team shocked the William and Mary B squad into submission, 25-6, at Apprentice Field on Friday night, October 4.

It was a case of fumbleitis and bad passing for the locals that gave the winners their four touchdowns in the first half of the game. Garland Isaacs, captain and fullback for the Papooses, led the Little Green to their only score.

After an exchange of punts early in the first period, the Apprentices took over on their own 37-yard stripe. Four plays put the ball on the Indians' 49, and then Brookings got loose for 46 yards around his left end to the 3-yard line. Childress bucked

TRIBE TOPICS

By ED GRIFFIN

Virtually every college coach in the nation descends to the depths of pessimism when he is questioned in pre-season interviews concerning the chances of his team. He is faced with a terrible schedule. Some of his best men won't be back. All his opponents are pointing for him. In other words, he'll be extremely fortunate to win half his games.

There is one man, however, who scorns these tactics and states exactly what he thinks. He is Jimmy Kitts, head man at V.P.I., who not only does not belittle his squad but actually praises it. On July 24, more than a month before the start of Fall practice the sturdy Texan had this to say, "We will not be pushed around by any team on our schedule and I expect to give all nine of our grid opponents plenty of trouble."

Unfortunately for the opposition, Tech teams have usually been able to back up any statements made by their leaders, especially against State foes. The Indians have all too often felt the Gobblers' might. In 21 meetings with the men from Blacksburg William and Mary has been able to win only 4 while V.P.I. was chalking up 14 victories. Disregarding three ties, the Tribe has the pitiful percentage of .222. The only Big Six eleven which has a worse average against Tech is the University of Richmond.

Thus on Saturday Coach Rube McCray's warriors will be trying to atone partly for these many defeats and the game should be packed with action since the teams seem to be as evenly matched as any that could be found. Students will see Tommy Thompson back as starting center, while Lou Hoitsma will be playing his first home game as an end. A battle of lines is anticipated, with John (The Greek) Maskas leading the visitors.

At Last

Diogenes, the man with the lantern, would have been overjoyed could he have attended a certain football gathering in North Carolina last summer when Bob Suffridge was called upon to say a few words.

Suffridge, an All-American guard while at the University of Tennessee and now line coach at N. C. State, then proceeded to explain the difference between college and professional football. According to Bob, "In college they pay you in cash and in the pro leagues they pay you by check."

Warning to his subject, Suffridge continued, "Dave Clark (Ed. note: Clark is one of State's most ardent fans) was asking me if I couldn't get the line over at N. C. State to charge more. I told him we couldn't pay what they charge now."

In commenting on these words, Chauncey Durden, sports editor of The Richmond Times-Dispatch, suggested that Tennessee add a course in discretion for its students. It seems to us, however, that Suffridge should be congratulated on his frankness. All schools subsidize athletes to a greater or lesser extent, depending usually on the state of their financial resources so why not be open about the matter instead of vehemently denying it as some colleges do.

Tom Mikula, Despite Late Start, Becomes Versatile Football Player

By H. REID

Those who have seen Tom Mikula perform so effectively in the William and Mary blocking back spot would never suspect that this is only the handsome Pennsylvanian's third year of playing football.

Tom never touched a football until his last year at Johnstown High School, and then only because one of his teachers persuaded him to try out for the team. Tom did, and looked promising as a fullback, notching a touchdown to his credit in his very first performance.

Upon graduation, Tom entered William and Mary after the exodus of the powerful 1942 Tri-Color lot that went to the University of Richmond in the V-12 training program there. The Indians played on an informal basis in 1943, as the war had begun to drain the grid resources in a big way.

Along about mid-season of '43, Coach McCray needed a capable guard. Mikula, playing admirably at fullback up to this time, seemed to be just what the mentor needed, and Tom made the change, establishing himself quickly in the front wall. No more was said about the need of a guard.

Tom saw service in the same position the next year, and the converted back showed so much ability that his teammates saw fit to elect Mikula as the captain of the 1945 team.

Before football season, Tom was called into service, and was unable to captain the team. While serving in the Air Corps, Tom was sent to Keesler Field, where he was stationed for almost a year. He received his honorable discharge this Spring.

Mikula, who is 5' 10" and weighs in at an even 190 pounds, is much more than the average football player. Loathe to say anything about himself—even to newspapermen, he has a mannered way about him uncommon to many athletes.

Academically, his grades are exceptional. "Program stuff," Tom calls it. Actually, the grades are what the programs say they are. They have to be because he wants to start work on his master's degree after graduating.

Mrs. Tunstall Appointed New WAA Secretary

Mrs. Garnett Tunstall, the former Helen Holbrook and William and Mary '43 graduate with an A.B., is the new Executive Secretary of the Women's Athletic Association and the faculty head of intramurals.

A native of Phoebus, Elizabeth City County, Va., Mrs. Tunstall worked in the War Department in Washington following her graduation. She received her degree here in library science and took an active part in all sports being especially interested in horseback riding and bowling.

As a prelude to the job she is just starting, Mrs. Tunstall stressed the fact that intramurals play an important part in the athletic program here and the upperclassmen as well as the freshmen should become thoroughly acquainted with the functions of the WAA and its representatives.

Beaver College Features Tough Hockey Schedule

Facing the hardest opponent of its schedule, the William and Mary hockey team will open its season against Beaver College in a home game on October 25.

Beaver is certain to put on the field a well-trained team, skilled in the art of smashing the ball into the cage. The Philadelphians always get a jump on their opponents by sending over two teams to the summer hockey camp. Besides this, daily practices have been held since before the opening of college.

Lack of Practice

The Squaws, on the other hand, have gotten together only seven times so far. Under the careful tutelage of Coach Martha E. Barksdale, the squad is drilling as a team three days a week. On other days, the girls concentrate on individual skills and techniques.

Eight members of last year's varsity have returned this year. Of these, five captured berths on the squad representing the state of Virginia in the South-East Tournament.

These returnees should spread an optimistic light on the approaching game with Beaver. The Northerners, however, find themselves in the same fortunate position with practically all of their last season's squad holding down the same positions.

Varsity Squad Unannounced

Miss Barksdale has not yet announced the varsity players. The eight returning girls, almost assured of their old posts, are Jane Beatty, Betty Littlefield, Middy Henry, Alice Woods, "Hockie" Hochstrasser, Tommy Smith, "Jimmie" Murphy and over the third play for the first score.

The kick-off was fumbled on an attempted lateral by the Papooses, and was recovered by the Apprentice School. The first play saw Brooking take the ball on a single reverse and scoot down the left side-line for another score.

In the second period Bernie Ricketts returned an Apprentice punt to the Maroon and Gold's 38. Two plays netted the Redmen a ten yard loss. Then Isaacs took the ball within a pocket of Little Green blockers and heaved the pigskin to Johnny Wilson, who took it on the ten and evaded the Apprentice School tacklers the rest of the way for the local's only score.

In the first period Eubanks intercepted a Papoose pass for 31 yards and a third touchdown for the winners. The final score of the game came in the second period when Eubanks again grabbed one of the Little Green's passes on the William and Mary 41, and scored standing up.

The second half was entirely scoreless, though there were many threats made by both the teams. Isaacs' offensive running and Bob Coleman's defensive game was noticeable for the locals throughout the whole game.

Coed Officials Meet

Miss Marion Reeder, chairman of the officiating board, has announced that the first meeting of the Williamsburg Board of Women Officials will be held October 10 at 4 p. m. in Washington 100.

Everyone interested in learning to officiate tennis and hockey is urged to attend. Points toward WAA awards are given to rated officials.

Citadel

Tri-Color guard, pounced on a fumbled Citadel pass on the Bulldog 12. Chet Mackiewicz, a consistent ground-gainer any time, and especially this afternoon, steamrolled his way up to the 4, and Jack Bruce added six more points to the Braves' tally, the score reading 27-0 at half time.

Citadel kicked into the end zone, to open the third quarter, Bob Longacre running back to the Indians' 25. Aided by perfect blocking, Korczowski outmaneuvered every man on the Citadel squad in a 75-yard touchdown sprint for the first of two touchdowns registered by the Big Green in this period. Citadel made the mistake of tossing a pass near Mikula, who intercepted the heave on the Citadel 31. After two running plays, Korczowski dropped a pass to Lou Hoitsma, who was waiting on the 17. Magdziak scored in two plays. William and Mary now had a sizable 39-0 margin.

But Citadel was not completely humbled. Taking advantage of an imperfect Tribe pass, Harry Dewald intercepted and streaked 60 yards for Citadel's first score through an amazed Big Green team. The extra point was not made, and the freshman-laden Citadel trailed 39-6 at the end of the third period.

Something went wrong with the William and Mary pass defense, and in a matter of scant seconds, Tom Marchinko caught the Green team flatfooted, and uncorked a 60-yard run, to bring the Citadel score up another six points.

It appeared, then, that William and Mary had stalled and would be held to no more scoring, as the Tribe could make no sizable gains. Fumbles and penalties halted several threats. At length, the Tribe set up their next to last score when Freeman pitched a touchdown pass to Jim Sloan, bulging the score to 45-12, in favor of the visiting Indians.

End George Heflin blocked a Citadel punt, and fell on it in the end zone for the last marker, the final count reading, 51-12.

Sounding Like H--!

By H. REID

No football season would be complete without the usual deluge of predictions about the outcome of football games, some well founded and others not. People like to master-mind, and their attempts are always interesting.

Printed herewith is a list of prophecies for the William and Mary season by a person who, by and large, knows what he is talking about—Joe Golembeck, a former Elon college football great, who was chosen on the same 1938 All-North Carolina mythical team as the present Tri-Color backfield coach, Eric Tipton, who was at Duke in the year of the selection.

Golembeck figured that Miami would take William and Mary by a 19-12 count. His idea about the Citadel game was a 26-0 win for the Indians. For the rest of the schedule, he sees a 12-6 loss to V.P.I.; a 32-6 swamping of Washington and Lee; a 19-13 victory over V.M.I. at Homecoming; a sad week end resulting in a 19-13 setback of the McCraymen at the hands of Maryland; another defeat the next Saturday by North Carolina—the score being something like 20-6; and a 19-0 pasting of George Washington. Fortunately for the freshmen, Nostradamus Golembeck thinks a 48-6 landslide with Richmond on the short end will terminate the frosh rules quite adequately.

These are purely guess work scores. Optimists need find no alarm, as predictions this year are hard to make.

Mistaken Identity

The story is told that Artis Mills had a tough time the first day he showed up for practice at William and Mary. McCray began working with the ends, and every now and then would holler for, "Mills." Artis would rush over, only to find, as he put it, "Some great big guy already there." There was a Denver Mills on the same team, it seemed.

And while we're on the subject of folks who look like other folks, there is a striking resemblance between the picture of center Tommy Thompson in the 1944 COLONIAL ECHO and those of Dave Clark.

Not to mention the Bob Hope—Bing Crosby duo of Frank O'Pella and Coach Dick Gallagher.

The Tri-Color team of '96, says the COLONIAL ECHO, played Richmond College on November 19, "on a park with so much mud and water, that mass plays had to be resorted to altogether. . . Our boys were thus handicapped by the impossibility of making their effective end runs, and the Spiders, under these conditions, were able to win their most stubbornly contested game of the season."

The Indians Go Literary

In describing the plights of a losing Harvard team in a story entitled THE GLORY FOOT, appearing in the Fall issue of the pulp magazine THRILLING FOOTBALL, the big question the Harvards asked was, "Who scored the winning touchdown against Harvard, William or Mary?" Apparently, the story was written before the advent of the Magdziaks, Mackiewicz, Korczowski, etc.

In a vein more serious are two items in the current NCAA OFFICIAL GUIDE, the little football "Bible," which you may have seen in the drug stores. On page 32, William and Mary is listed as being the nation's seventh highest punting team, averaging 37.40 yards a punt for 40 punts in six games of last season.

Eight pages over is the mention of the 75-yard, Korczowski to Mills, aerial that highlighted the Merchant Marine game of last year.

Library Acquires Additional Books

Among the new additions to the College library are Motion Pictures in the Classroom by Wood and Freeman, Industrial Management by Kraus and Thomson, Elgood's Italian Gardens, American Men of Letters by Clarke, and the Best Plays of 1944-45.

These books, along with a number of others, are on the rotating display of the new additions shelf in the entrance to the Saunderson room on the main floor.

Robert H. Land, associate librarian, said that he feels the shelf, with its collection of the latest books, covers such a wide variety of subjects that it will provide students with interesting and enjoyable reading material for classroom and recreational purposes.

Mr. Land recently returned to Williams and Mary to resume his duties as associate librarian. He has been on a leave of absence for four months at the University of Virginia where he completed the requirements for his Ph. D. in the field of history.

J. E. Pomfret Backs College For Everyone

"Every young person is entitled to a college education or its equivalent whether he can pay for it or not," stated President John E. Pomfret in his address to the local chapter of the A. A. U. P. on Friday evening, Oct. 4. Failure to train everyone to the limit of his ability is a great waste, according to Dr. Pomfret.

Dr. D. W. Woodbridge, retiring president, presided at the meeting, which was held in Brafferton house, at 8:00 p. m. Newly elected officers of the local chapter are as follows: Dr. Harold Phalen, president; Dr. Grace Blank, vice-president; Dr. Fraser Neiman, secretary; and Dr. Alfred Armstrong, treasurer.

Band Naming Contest To Award $10 Prize

A prize of $10 and free admission to all dances at which the college dance band plays will be the award for the naming of the band in a contest now being sponsored by the music department. The contest begins tonight and will run until a suitable name has been submitted.

Boxes for entries will be placed in the dining rooms. Contest blanks may also be addressed to Dance Contest, Marshall-Wythe building.

The band may be engaged for all fraternity and sorority dances, with as many players as desired, according to Ash Wiley, leader.

Let's Look At The Record

By H. REID

Peggy Shaw, Gamma Phi House, took last week's contest prize, way ahead of any other contestant. The answers to the Hill Billy Quiz are as follows: Ernest is the best known of the Tubbs Family. He wrote the famous WALKIN' THE FLOOR OVER YOU. "I couldn't hear nobody pray," is a line from WRECK ON THE HIGHWAY. Roy Acuff has sponsored flour and tobacco on his radio program, and there is room to support the fact that corn has also been featured. A. P. Carter composed I'M THINKING TONIGHT OF MY BLUE EYES. Bob Wills heads the Texas Playboys. The Trapp Family, who are not supposed to deal in rural music, by the way, will appear here.

THE OLD LAMPLIGHTER should be set for a ride in the Hit Parade. Sammy Kaye has waxed this title for Victor in what is his smoothest attempt in a long time. The voice of Billy Williams is showcased before a large choir with a celeste and light rhythm accompaniment for most of the record. A short instrumental reed and muted trumpet passage is set off toward the end, all making for a surprisingly appealing performance. Betty Barclay, in a style reminiscent of Bonnie "OH JOHNNIE, OH" Baker, chirps the Art Kassel ditty on the reverse side, TOUCH ME NOT.

Russ Case has a warm recording of NIGHT AND DAY and the never old—BEGIN THE BEGUINE for Victor. Case, who used to be a member of the Raymond Scott Quintet, has recently been heard in furnishing background music for Perry Como. On this release, however, Case shows what a good studio orchestra can do, and there are some really good solos in both around a tricky beat, and is especially interesting.

Bobby Sherwood shows a sense of the unusual in his Capitol recording of SHERWOOD FOREST, spotting much brass and odd phrasing. . . . Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire have combined talents in an album of tunes from the movie BLUE SKIES, cutting ten sides for Decca. . . . Also on Decca are Louis Jordan's AIN'T THAT JUST LIKE A WOMAN (THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME), which features Jordan's pianist, who plays standing up. . . . Jimmy Dorsey's APACHE SERENADE, voiced by Dee Parker, is allegedly based on a genuine Indian war dance. Backed by Bob Carroll crooning THE WHOLE WORLD IS SINGING MY SONG. . . . Two instrumentals, for Decca, are JUST AN OLD MANUSCRIPT and BLUE RHAPSODY are offered by Glen Gray and the Casa Lomans. The latter has a trumpet solo by Bobby Hackett. . . . And for those who like that sort of thing, the speed boat racer, Guy Lombardo, has recorded ON THE ALAMO, which, here, sounds as though it may be falling again.

For this week's record contest, two Bing Crosby platters NIGHT AND DAY and SIBONEY are to be given to the person sending in the correct answers first to:

Record Quiz, Box 52, Williamsburg, Va.

The questions:

- 1) Bing Crosby used to be a member of (a) The Rhythm Boys, (b) The Rover Boys (c) Mama's Boys, who used to sing with Paul Whiteman.
- 2) Whose band is known as the Music Makers, (a) Harry James, (b) Tommy Dorsey, (c) Stan Kenton.
- 3) (a) Billy Butterfield, (b) Charlie Spivak, (c) Ish Kabibble—plays what has been called "The Sweetest Trumpet in the World."
- 4) Years ago, the Boswell Sisters were quite famous as a singing group. One of the Boswells still sings, as a single. She is (a) Roswell, (b) Connie, (c) Trudy.
- 5) SUNRISE SERENADE is the theme song of (a) Glenn Miller's band, (b) Sonny Dunham, (c) Frankie Carle.
- 6) Andy Russell, before going on his own as a vocalist, used to play drums for (a) John Kirby, (b) Benny Goodman, (c) Alvino Ray.
- 7) Pinetop Smith penned (a) BOOGIE WOOGIE, (b) WAB DANCE FOR WOODEN INDIANS, (c) WOODMAN, SPARE THAT TREE.
- 8) All but one of the following have sung with Artie Shaw's band. Which of the three has not? (a) Toney Pastor, (b) Helen Forrest, (c) Shaffy Schultz.

Restoration Adds Nautical Display

Colonial Williamsburg, Inc. has put on display a nautical exhibition borrowed from the Mariner's Museum of Newport News, Va. The exhibit, located in the Williamsburg Inn Game Room, consists of a three foot model of the clipper ship "Henry B. Hyde" and water color drawings of two United States frigates, the "Constitution" and the "President."

Built in Bath, Maine, in 1884, the "Henry B. Hyde" was 267 feet long and displaced 2,583 tons. The clipper ship sailed around the Horn from New York to San Francisco until 1898 when she entered the coal trade, loading at Norfolk and Baltimore for the west coast. In 1904 she was driven ashore at Virginia Beach. The model of this ship follows the intricate rigging of the ship meticulously, and is complete in almost every detail with the original, according to Restoration officials.

The "President," a 44 gun ship, was flagship of the American Squadron under Captain Stephen Decatur in 1819. Captained by Charles Stewart in 1819, the historically famous "Constitution" bore 32 long 24—pound guns and 32—pound carronades.

Inn Officials Reveal Plan For 9-Hole Golf Course

One of Virginia's finest golf courses will be built for the Williamsburg Inn by the noted golf architect, Fred Findley, it has been announced by officials of the Williamsburg Restoration.

The nine-hole course will be located south of Williamsburg in a 65-acre tract, and is now under construction. Completion date will not be set until work is more advanced.

This course is expected to accommodate local golf enthusiasts and plans for a golf club similar to the Williamsburg Swimming Club are anticipated.

Located on land especially suitable for "sporty" golf because of deep ravines and rolling fields, the course has a total yardage of 2,714 with a par of 34.

Three of the holes are through heavily wooded areas, the clearing of which has been completed. Certain fairways have been ploughed preparatory to planting in the fall and a nursery of grass for the greens has been started. Access roads for construction of the course have been finished.

The designer of the course, Fred M. Findley, was formerly with the James River Course in Richmond, and now lives in Charlottesville. His layouts for the courses at the Country Club of Virginia in Richmond and Farmington have attained nation-wide recognition.

The first hole begins approximately 150 yards south of the Inn in the vicinity of the outdoor swimming pool and the greens of the ninth hole are nearby and adjacent to the tennis courts on the grounds of the Inn. The entire course stretches south of the Inn and west across the lower end of South England Street on land recently acquired by the Restoration from Eastern State Hospital.

Plans indicate that a practice putting green will be constructed near the first tee. It is anticipated that a club house will be built in the future to serve the course.

Kilroy Was Here

By FLETCHER COX

In the interest of bringing the veterans nearer the rest of the college students, in outlook and social events, The FLAT HAT will print this column weekly, publishing constructive criticism offered by veterans.

This week, vetrans were asked what they thought could be improved here on the campus.

American Legion: One of the most urgent problems of the school is the repair of Matoaka Park. Due to pressing labor problems, it seems a necessity to utilize student skills in this project.

Bill Snelling: The fact of the matter, is, I'm happy.

Floyd Smith: I am all for living in fraternity houses. The value of the fraternity-system is lost under this present set-up.

Norman Martin: A man 21 years of age, fully responsible under the law, should be allowed to keep his own car here at the College, without having to be checked out through the Dean's Office.

Bob Sanford: I think that girls should be allowed to swim in Blow Gym swimming pool with the men students during the afternoon.

Bonnie Green Sees Europe With Youth Hostel Group

Post-war trips to Europe have begun, adding to the ever increasing admissions that the war is really over. Bonnie Green, traveling with the A.Y.H., American Youth Hostel group, made a peace-time trip abroad last summer.

The Hostel groups travel by bicycle, canoe, horses, and on foot, making overnight stops at farm houses and Hostel centers. The purpose is to enable young people to see all parts of the world, and to meet and live with all nationalities.

Bonnie's group was the first to make a post-war trip. There were one hundred American boys and girls, mostly college students, in this group, which cycled through Belgium, Luxemburg, Holland, and France, and touched on the Spanish border.

"Signs of destruction were everywhere," explained Bonnie. "Green fields ten blocks long were all that was left of Rotterdam's main business district."

The European people were fascinating, but the language barrier was hard to overcome. Laughing, Bonnie said that many small children had picked up unsavory American phrases from the G. I.'s. Working with a French group, Bonnie helped to clean up a former school for undernourished children.

"You know, it's amazing how quickly you pick up phrases of a language, when you're living with the people," Bonnie said. One outstanding European custom was in their interpretation of the woman's place in society. This was particularly noticeable in the rural sections where the women waited on the men, sometimes not eating themselves if the men had been too ravenous.

"We took our own food over; but traded it with the people, as it was canned and could be used this winter," Bonnie said. "Most of the time we ate their fare, which consisted of potatoes, bread, and macaroni." By European standards, this is a normal diet.

Every French man I saw wore a beret; and the poorer class of Dutch and French wear wooden shoes. I wore them, too, to keep my feet warm," smiled Bonnie.

Two of the things that stood out for Bonnie above all else were traveling third-class on French trains, amidst the geese and chickens, and celebrating her birthday—when "Happy Birthday" was sung to her in nine different languages.

Seniors To Elect Officers At Meet

Plans for senior class participation in homecoming activities, the senior gift, and a class dance will be made at a compulsory meeting of the class at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, Oct. 9, in Washington 200, according to Bert Rance, president. Elections for class historian, class poet, senior marshalls, and a permanent secretary will also be held.

"Providing all seniors attend this first meeting tonight, it will eliminate the necessity of frequent meetings of the class as the complete program for the first semester may be organized at this one meeting," stated Bert. He urges all students who are uncertain of their class standing but who think they are seniors to attend the meeting.

Little Time Saved By Cutting Campus

Today, we dwell in a mechanical world. Nobody who is anybody sharpens his pencils by the old pen-knife method. He uses a mechanical sharpener—or, better still, he has a mechanical pencil, perfect in every detail except that of requiring human exertion to lengthen the point. Even the destitute cigar-butt-sniper calmly snipes his smokes mechanically. In short, our minds are irretrievably linked with laws of physics, chemistry, and mathematics.

In order to restrain the feet of numerous footloose students, campaigns have been inaugurated, urging one and all to refrain from cutting campus, because to do so will only mar the beauty thereof. Obviously this is the wrong approach for, as stated before, the mind dwells upon  $2 \times 2 = 4$ . Therefore, instead of extolling the beauties of William and Mary's grounds, this is to be a concrete statement of fact, requiring only the most elementary knowledge of mathematics for absolute proof.

In a recent survey conducted on the run between Marshall-Wythe and Trinkle Hall, the subject cut every possible corner in a heroic effort to pick up several minutes lost somewhere or other. He was clocked at 2:07:29. That was the amount of time it took the subject to cover the least ground possible in carooming across the campus. The sobbing subject was then led back to Marshall-Wythe, where, after being given several shots of adrenalin, he was aimed toward Trinkle again, and bid to stick to the paths this time. His finishing form was perfect, and he was clocked in at the Dining Hall in exactly 2:37:30. Minute calculations demonstrate that it took him exactly 30:31 seconds longer to stick to the walks than to careen madly across the broad expanses of green.

Furthermore, since the subject was wired for light and sound, he was examined to ascertain the stress and strain contingent upon both forays, one by paths across the campus and one by time-honored walks. The Horse-Power Consumed rating for the first was .002856 horsepower; and, for the second foray, the rating read .002956, giving reason to the deduction that it only takes .0001 h.p. more to stick to the walks. This expended horse-power may be restored merely through eating one more soggy roll at dinner.
